

CEU Guidance Statement

The University of Kansas School Social Welfare's Professional & Community Education program is approved as a provider for social work continuing education by the Kansas Behavioral Sciences Regulatory Board (AP-02-011). The KUSSW Professional & Community Education program maintains responsibility for the program.

Nearly every jurisdiction that issues mental health professional licenses requires continuing education (CE) courses for renewal. These CE requirements vary from one jurisdiction to another, from the number of hours required to the types of courses that must be taken. Compliance with CE requirements is the responsibility of the individual mental health professional. It is crucial that licensed mental health professional understand the CE requirements in their jurisdictions, and keep up-to-date on any rule changes.

The bottom line is, continuing education is the responsibility of the individual mental health professional—not the CE provider, the licensing board, or the professional association. It is up to you to understand your jurisdiction's requirements for continuing education—how your jurisdiction tabulates CE time, which types of courses will not be accepted, etc. To gain more understanding of these requirements, you can find out by contacting your professional licensing board.
