Collaborative Teaming and Planning to Support Selection of Innovations and Implementation Strategies

BACKGROUND, PROCESSES & METHODS

Kansas Strong for Children and Families Steering Committee collaborated across service systems to identify priority problem areas in child welfare. The team examined multiple quantitative and qualitative data sources (e.g., state and federal administrative data, case reviews, stakeholder interviews, agency/stakeholder survey, parent survey, and input gathered from community events). Data were shared with a steering committee to identify root causes, target populations, and key priorities for intervention for the six problem areas to inform Kansas Strong initiative development.

Selected strategies aim to improve outcomes by supporting the full CHALLENGES Competing priorities across continuum of child welfare services and changing practices in both court/legal and agency settings, and to address systemic barriers

Implementation Frameworks (Fixsen, Blase, Van Dyke, 2019)

stakeholders SUCCESSES

Drivers Systemic Change

systems (e.g., courts versus child welfare agencies) Meaningful and sustained integration of child & family voice Time demands necessary to authentically engage and generate consensus across

Our

process

Collaboration

Implementation

Evaluation

Feedback

 Making time and space for brave conversations on racism

 Data used to build shared understandings and shared language

- Multiple types of data deepened stakeholder knowledge
- Developing new relationships, which required time to build trust

• Different systems focus on distinct goals and processes; centering family and youth lived experiences can bridge these differences

• Implications: Necessary are routine and ongoing cross-system meetings, supported by informal and formal mechanisms

KEY DISCUSSION QUESTION What is the role of collaboration in teaming and planning for intervention and implementation strategy selection?

Authors: Becci Akin, Kaela Byers, Stacy Dunkerley, Shelby Clark, Kelechi Wright, Vickie McArthur, Dennis Alford, Sarah McCall; University of Kansas School of Social Welfare, USA; Contact: becciakin@ku.edu

2021 Global Implementation Conference, May 3-6, 2021